

Head of Rail Board Called to Capital By Chief Executive

Harding Seeks to Learn the Exact Situation in Railroad Strike First Hand.

BOTH FACTIONS FIRM IN THEIR POSITIONS

Jewell Silent on Moves of Roads Toward Separate Negotiations Despite His Warning.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS. Chicago, July 21.—Chairman Ben W. Hooper, of the railroad labor board, was on his way to Washington tonight for a conference with President Harding which administration officials hoped would be the basis for peace negotiations in the national railway shippers' strike.

The third week of the walkout ended tonight with rail executives and union heads firm in their respective positions, as described by Mr. Hooper at the conclusion of unsuccessful peace conferences here as "antipodal."

With the newest peace activities centered at Washington, Attorney-General Daugherty held conferences at which the possibility of legal action in both the rail and coal strikes was discussed, although it was said no immediate proceedings were contemplated.

Additional carriers today followed the lead of the Baltimore & Ohio road and announced that separate peace agreements with their men would be sought. It was learned today that the feasibility of seeking separate agreements was one of the matters discussed at conferences between Chairman Hooper and rail executives here a few days ago when conciliation efforts were halted.

Jewell Quiet.

While B. M. Jewell, head of the shop crafts employees, previously stated that an agreement must be on a national basis, he has not commented on recent moves of the carriers for separate negotiations. He indicated definitely tonight, however, that separate agreements would not be considered what he termed R. A. Henning, of St. Paul, general chairman denying statements that he had asserted he was ready to negotiate with individual roads.

Mr. Jewell had no comment tonight except that "everything looks fine." He said he would probably have a statement on the general situation tomorrow. Chairman Hooper was summoned to Washington after conferences between eastern rail executives and members of the senate interstate commerce committee had failed to smooth out the situation.

Grand lodge officers of the maintenance of way organization meeting in Detroit decided that any road failing to hold conferences with maintenance of way men to adjust wage differences will face a strike on the individual road.

Board Directs Action.

The labor board has already referred the wage matters back to the roads and unions and has directed that the dispute be brought to the board in case an agreement is not reached.

Replying to assertions of union officials that the question of establishing national adjustment boards is holding up a peace settlement, William H. Finley, president of the Chicago and Northwestern railway asserted tonight that there is no connection between the present strike and the boards of adjustment.

PRESIDENT SEEKING FIRST-HAND INFORMATION.

Washington, July 21.—Determined to get the exact situation, President Harding is expected to leave for the capital tomorrow morning.

SEVEN RESIDENCES BURN TO GROUND IN FT. WORTH FIRE

Fort Worth, Texas, July 21.—Fire of unknown origin late today destroyed seven houses in Hi-Mount, fashionable residence district in Arlington Heights. The blaze was discovered about 6:15 o'clock and spread rapidly, city firemen being helpless in their efforts to check the flames, through lack of water.

The loss is estimated at between $75,000 and $100,000. One block, with the exception of a residence in the middle, which the flames leaped, was burned to the ground.

Lack of water and the intense heat hampered the firemen. The fact that the blaze was fanned by a twenty-mile an hour wind accounted for the rapid spread of the flames.

LORD NORTHCLIFFE IS CRITICALLY ILL

Famous English Publisher's Condition Takes Turn for Worse—Little Known of Illness.

BY RALPH H. TURNER. United News Staff Correspondent. London, July 21.—The condition of Lord Northcliffe, owner of The London Times and 100 other British publications, is now more critical than at any time since he was recently stricken while sojourning in Switzerland.

His physicians, late Friday, issued a bulletin stating that the famous publisher's condition "continues to give rise to anxiety." Following this, it was learned that the end would not be surprising to those in the confidence of the family, although the attending physicians declare the rugged constitution of their patient may enable him to hold out longer than expected.

The official bulletin declared that "fever, due to an infection, does not abate, and the heart is, in consequence, considerably embarrassed."

The condition of Northcliffe, which has prompted the widest range of reports imaginable regarding the character and seriousness of his illness has been for some time the "mystery of Fleet street," the newspaper district where the bed-ridden genius built up Great Britain's most powerful publishing organization.

Little Known of Illness.

Lord Northcliffe's condition—at least according to the Fleet street version of it—is of such a nature that his fellow newspaper builders only talk of it hesitatingly and guardedly, not only because of the probable inaccuracy of many reports which are circulated, but because of the suggestions contained in them.

Long Car Ride, Irate Husband, And Grady Next

C. G. Wilson in Hospital and Two Men and Two Women Jailed.

C. G. Wilson, 28, a farmer residing in Campbell county, suffered severe cuts about the face and his left eye was badly bruised as the result of an alleged attack late Friday evening by F. P. Peoples, 25, of 62 Formwalt street. Wilson's injuries were attended at Grady hospital, after which he was taken to police station and a charge of disorderly conduct docketed against him.

Wilson told City Detectives Austin and Armstrong that he was invited to take a ride to Atlanta by a party of men and women, who passed through Fairburn in an automobile earlier in the evening. In the party, he said, were W. J. Parker, 24, of East Point; Mrs. Callie Peoples, wife of F. P. Peoples; Miss Frances Wells, 19, who gave the same address as the Peoples, and a fourth young man, who is said to have escaped.

Accepting the invitation to ride, Wilson declared he was brought to Atlanta and at Parker's suggestion the entire party proceeded to Mrs. Peoples' home in the machine. Upon arriving in front of the Peoples' home, Wilson asserted, a man, who was later identified as F. P. Peoples, suddenly stepped up to the automobile and before any of the occupants had alighted, began using a pocket knife on Wilson, who said he was nearest to the man. Peoples began abusing other members of the party at the same time he was wielding the knife, for "taking his wife away from home," Wilson stated.

Wilson was taken to Grady hospital to have his injuries attended and while there told his story to the detectives. Peoples, his wife, Parker and Miss Wells were later taken into custody by the officers on charges of disorderly conduct. Peoples' bond was fixed at $500, in default of which he was locked in the city jail. Parker's bond was assessed at $100. Similar bonds were assessed against Mrs. Peoples and Miss Wells. Detectives are seeking the young man who is said to have escaped when the cutting started in front of the Peoples' home.

The case has been set for 11 o'clock Saturday morning.

On Wedding Eve Girl Ends Life By Pistol Shot

Health Had Failed Her as Result of Close Attention to Sick Mother.

Eatonville, Ga., July 21.—(Special.) Miss Rosa Little Mahone, 20, of Dublin, formerly of Macon, a member of a prominent Putnam county family, died at the home of an aunt near Oconee springs at 7:30 o'clock tonight from a pistol wound said to have been self-inflicted.

Miss Mahone had been here for several weeks attending her mother, Mrs. W. P. Mahone, who has been desperately ill and who is still in a critical condition. Because of her close attention to her mother, the young woman's health broke down. She is said to have become despondent and was taken to the home of Mrs. J. M. Grogg, an aunt, near Oconee Springs.

Members of the family feared that she would attempt to destroy her life, it was learned tonight, and for that reason had a pistol shot. It was on Wednesday, it is said, that she obtained the pistol. She was alone in her room at the time. Members of the family heard a pistol shot, and rushing in, they found the young woman prostrated, with the weapon in her hand, and a bullet through her body, near the heart.

Miss Mahone was conscious until this morning. William Munn, of Macon, to whom she is reported to have been engaged, visited her last Sunday. He returned this morning when Continued on page 12, column 5.

APARTMENT HOUSE TO COST $750,000 PLANNED FOR CITY

Building, With All Modern Conveniences, Will Be Erected Soon at Pershing Point.

$450,000 IN BONDS OFFERED INVESTORS

Definite plans to erect a nine-story apartment building at Pershing point, the northern junction of Peachtree and West Peachtree streets, at an aggregate cost of considerably more than $750,000, were announced Friday. Contract for its erection has already been let to Gude & Co., and actual construction work is expected to begin about August 1. It is probable that the apartments will be ready for occupancy next June.

The site of structure has just been sold to Ernest D. Duncan by the Grant-Jeter company, real estate firm with offices in the Grant building. The building will be known as the "Pershing Point apartments." Financial assistance is being given by Mr. Duncan by the G. L. Miller company, mortgage bond brokers, who will soon offer to investors a $450,000 issue of first mortgage bonds on the completed property.

Fine Apartments.

The "Pershing Point apartments" will be the finest built in Atlanta since the Ponce de Leon apartments, it is claimed. It will have a frontage of 100 feet on each of the two Peachtree streets, and entrances will be provided on each street. The average depth of the site is 120 feet.

The lot is adjacent to the Callender Drug company, which adjoins the tract set aside as the memorial of Fulton war mothers to service men of the county who gave their lives in the war.

Pershing point is in the heart of the most fashionable Peachtree residential section. It is within a few hundred yards of the First Presbyterian church, and the First Church of Christ, Scientist, two of the city's finest edifices. The Peachtree passenger station is within easy walking distance.

Plans Being Designed.

Plans for the building are being designed by G. Lloyd Preacher & Co., architects and engineers of Atlanta and Augusta. Brick, lime stone and terra cotta will be used. The combined cost of the structure and the site will exceed three-quarters of a million dollars.

Exactly 100 apartments of two, three and four rooms each, with outdoor exposure, hardwood floors, tile baths and all modern conveniences, are planned.

A comfortable dining room, buffet and luxurious lounge and reception rooms will occupy the first floor. High-speed elevators will make the top-most apartments easily accessible.

Grant-Jeter company has been named renting agents for the Pershing point apartments.

SIX COLQUITT CATTLE OWNERS ARE INDICTED

Candidate for Commissioner Among Those Charged With Violating Tick Eradication Law.

ALLEGED THEY REFUSED TO DIP THEIR HERDS

Moultrie, Ga., July 21.—(Special.) Six Colquitt county cattle owners were indicted by the grand jury this afternoon on charges of violating the tick eradication law. Those accused are C. W. Beck, C. L. Autre, C. B. Beck, J. A. Bannister, Felix Carlton and C. L. King.

The charges against the men grew out of their refusal to dip their herds on the first dipping day in July. Previously they had taken part in a mass meeting held here at which a resolution was passed putting the authorities on notice "that all dipping of cattle would stop in Colquitt after July 1."

Warrants Issued.

Warrants were issued for their arrest immediately and they gave bond. Papers authorizing officers to seize their herds, drive them to Moultrie, impound and dip them every 14 days at the expense of the owners, also were secured.

The accused men then agreed to dip their cattle themselves. They were permitted to do so. Authorities in charge of the tick fight, however, refused to withdraw the warrants.

Felix Carlton a Candidate.

Felix Carlton, one of the accused men, is in the race for a place on the board of county commissioners and is understood to be running on an "anti-dipping platform."

In the meanwhile the tick eradication work is proceeding rapidly and authorities in charge of it announce that it will be concluded before the end of the present year.

INTEREST IN TEXAS IN SENATE RACE

Final Political Rallies Held Over State in Preparation for Voting Today.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS. Dallas, Texas, July 21.—Final political rallies were held over the state tonight in connection with the first democratic election tomorrow, when voters, indications tonight were, will go to the polls in heavy numbers, under ideal weather conditions. Most of the candidates did not participate in tonight's rallies.

Interest centers in the outcome of the race for United States senator, it being six years since Texas voters have balloted to name a member of the national senate. A senator is to be elected this year during a national republican administration, whereas in 1916 and 1918, the vote on United States senator from Texas was during the days of national democratic control, it was pointed out.

United States Senator Charles A. Culberson, former Governor James E. Ferguson, R. L. Henry, E. B. Mayfield, Clarence Owsley and Cullen F. Thomas are the six candidates for the office of the United States senator from Texas.

Congressman Thomas L. Blanton, from Abilene, in the 17th district has four opponents, F. B. Dibble, Jr., Oscar Calloway, Earnest Galbright and N. S. Holland.

Roop to Preside.

Judge C. E. Roop, of Carrollton, will preside next week in the criminal division of Fulton superior court, it was announced in the office of the solicitor Thursday. Judge Roop has served the Fulton superior court before and has many friends in Atlanta.

Ryan Bankrupt After Spectacular Financial Deals

Man Who Engineered Stutz Corner Goes to Wall for $32,000,000.

BY RAYMOND CLAPPER. United News Staff Correspondent. New York, July 21.—From the dizzy financial heights of being a millionaire 25 times over to bankruptcy. That is the story of Allan A. Ryan, one of the most recent romantic figures of Wall street, son of Thomas Fortune Ryan, an equally interesting figure of the "street," as it was written Friday when Ryan failed for $32,500,000.

Ryan, head of the firm of Allan A. Ryan & Co., 111 Broadway, filed a voluntary petition in bankruptcy. Liabilities were listed at $32,435,479. Of this amount $27,500,084 are secured claims.

Assets were given at only $643,523, including securities listed at $549,898.

The crash, the filing of the petition in bankruptcy, signaling the sweeping away of a vast fortune, comes as the climax to one of the most spectacular careers in the street in years.

Engineered Stutz Corner.

It was Ryan, who, in 1920, engineered the amazing corner in Stutz motors, with the result that Stutz stock advanced from $130 to more than $500 a share within a few weeks.

It was Ryan who was one of the most successful exploiters of "war babies" during the rollicking stock market times of the war when prices of "war stocks" sky-rocketed to unprecedented levels.

It was after a series of successful operations of this type that Ryan's friends were estimating his fortune at around $25,000,000.

In his bankruptcy petition Ryan asserts that he now has only $16 in cash on hand. His clothing, jewelry and silver toilet set, listed as his only personal possessions, were valued at $4,000.

The petition made the bankruptcy personal to Ryan and does not include his firm.

The following were listed among the secured creditors:

Chase National bank, $3,450,429. Mechanics and Metals National bank, $1,402,963. First National bank, $4,850,892. Lawyers Title and Trust company, $389,089. Empire Trust company, $166,705. Guaranty Trust company, $8,222,553.

Pledged to the Allan A. Ryan company and pledged by them to the Guaranty Trust company, $13,453,398.

Among the unsecured creditors are, Unsecured Creditors.

Samuel Untermyer, $45,000; Coleman DuPont $86,000; Federal Motor Works, Indianapolis, $100,000; H. Content, $16,575; Charles M. Schwab, $309,555, and $1,093,508 to H. P. Whitney and six others, due under contract for 31,244 shares of Sinclair Consolidated stock.

The unsecured liabilities aggregate $4,621,334.

Ryan enjoyed all the attentions that a successful market planner may expect to enjoy in New York. Police Commissioner Enright made him a special deputy while Ryan was at the height of his power. During an investigation into affairs of the city last September it was revealed that Ryan made Enright a profit of $12,000 on Morton Petroleum stock without Enright putting up a dollar.

Joe Hill Hall Is Near Death In Macon Home

Former Legislator, Known as "Watch Dog of Treasury," Not Expected to Recover.

Macon, July 21.—(Special.)—Joe Hill Hall, for many years representative from Bibb county in the legislature and who while serving there became known as the "Watch Dog of the Treasury," is critically ill at his home in Macon, and attending physicians state there is little hope for his recovery.

"Uncle Joe," as he is known to his intimates, has been in poor health for several months, but has been active nevertheless, until the last few weeks. In recent months, he has been conducting a campaign throughout the state against the Municipal League of Georgia.

After giving up his seat in the legislature, Mr. Hall was a candidate for governor, but was defeated. Since then he has not sought public office, though he was mentioned several times as a probable appointee as city court judge after Judge Dupont Guerry was killed.

U. S. Will "Stand Pat" for Ten Days or Two Weeks to Determine Effectiveness of Federal Guards.

PLAN FOR ARBITRATION ADVANCED BY SOLO

Senator King Would Have Harding Appoint Committee of Five to Investigate Dispute.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS. Washington, July 21.—The government is prepared to "stand pat" for a period of ten days to two weeks in its attitude toward the coal strike, it was indicated today, in order to ascertain whether sufficient production will be obtained through the reopening of bituminous mines under guarantee of federal protection to assure the fuel requirements of essential industries.

In the meantime, however, plans for distribution of the curtailed supply of coal are to be pushed, it was said. Secretary Hoover announced tonight that he had called a meeting here next Monday of representatives of producing districts in Tennessee, Kentucky, Alabama, Virginia, Pennsylvania and West Virginia, to discuss the proposed "rationing" plan and to formulate a policy designed to restrict profiteering.

While all three parties to the recent conferences in Washington—the government, operators and union—seemed satisfied that the situation, as it now stands, was hopelessly deadlocked, a new move for restoration of peace in the coal field was "in the resolution introduced in the senate today by Senator King, democrat, Utah, who proposed creation of the commission of five to investigate both sides of the controversy and report its findings. No provision was made in the resolution for enforcing the findings made by the commission, but Mr. King expressed the opinion that such a body, set up by positive legislative action would have more authority than did the conference appointed by the president.

Stocks Permit Waiting.

A survey of remaining coal stocks was said to have convinced administration officials that these were sufficient to permit a fortnight of waiting to develop the response to the presidential "invitation" to the operators to resume operation without adding unduly to the danger of an industrial shutdown through lack of fuel.

Secretary Hoover's program for emergency distribution was said to contemplate the organization of a central committee here which would act through local committees in the principal coal producing sections.

"Plans have been formulated," Mr. Hoover said, "for co-operation of the department of commerce and the interstate commerce commission and the department of justice, by which, with the co-operation of responsible operators, the control of price and distribution can be effected. The plan is now before the department of justice for their consideration and it involves the pooling of coal in each district and the distribution of it under the authority and direction of the government, with the co-operation of the operators' committee."

Legal Point Up.

Power of the government to act through the interstate commerce commission under the interstate commerce act, was understood to be the legal point before the department of justice, which is the effective force of the administration's emergency coal scheme.

With the coal in each producing district pooled, it was believed that the central committee could direct the distribution of fuel to needy points through the assignment of cars and could facilitate coal movement by priority orders from the interstate commerce commission while at the Continued on page 5, column 2.

Ryan Bankrupt After Spectacular Financial Deals

Man Who Engineered Stutz Corner Goes to Wall for $32,000,000.

BY RAYMOND CLAPPER. United News Staff Correspondent. New York, July 21.—From the dizzy financial heights of being a millionaire 25 times over to bankruptcy. That is the story of Allan A. Ryan, one of the most recent romantic figures of Wall street, son of Thomas Fortune Ryan, an equally interesting figure of the "street," as it was written Friday when Ryan failed for $32,500,000.

Ryan, head of the firm of Allan A. Ryan & Co., 111 Broadway, filed a voluntary petition in bankruptcy. Liabilities were listed at $32,435,479. Of this amount $27,500,084 are secured claims.

Assets were given at only $643,523, including securities listed at $549,898.

The crash, the filing of the petition in bankruptcy, signaling the sweeping away of a vast fortune, comes as the climax to one of the most spectacular careers in the street in years.

Engineered Stutz Corner.

It was Ryan, who, in 1920, engineered the amazing corner in Stutz motors, with the result that Stutz stock advanced from $130 to more than $500 a share within a few weeks.

It was Ryan who was one of the most successful exploiters of "war babies" during the rollicking stock market times of the war when prices of "war stocks" sky-rocketed to unprecedented levels.

It was after a series of successful operations of this type that Ryan's friends were estimating his fortune at around $25,000,000.

In his bankruptcy petition Ryan asserts that he now has only $16 in cash on hand. His clothing, jewelry and silver toilet set, listed as his only personal possessions, were valued at $4,000.

EXTRA SPECIAL PEAL.

TODAY ONLY.

TAX EQUALIZATION BATTLE RENEWED

The final battle over the repeal of the tax equalization law will be fought in the house next week, beginning immediately after the period of unanimous consent is ended Tuesday morning and this fight, leaders predicted Friday, will be the hardest fought. Little of this session of the legislature. The house adjourned on the subject of placing the bill on the calendar at 1 o'clock Friday and will reconvene Monday. By a motion adopted it was agreed that the tax equalization law discussion will be resumed Tuesday morning. On all test votes in the house Friday advocates of the repeal measure won by substantial majorities.

Development of a smooth-working filibuster against placing the repeal bill on the calendar was one of the features of the Friday session. Representative Arnold, of Clay, led the filibuster and it probably will run over into the session next week, although it will not last as long as it did in the senate last week, due to the adoption of a limitation of debate rule.

Claims of Opponents. Opponents of the repeal bill raised the point Friday that the house could not consider the repeal bill at this time since the senate last week voted to defer the bill until the next session. Representative Bentley, of Fulton, asserted the house could not consider the bill under the constitutional provision which holds that a bill defeated cannot be again considered except by the consent of two-thirds of the members of the branch defeating the bill.

Speaker Cecil Neill ruled that the house was within its rights in considering the tax equalization bill at this time regardless of the question taken on a similar measure in the senate. He overruled the point of order of Representative Arnold. Speaker Neill explained that the question before the house was whether the house would adopt a motion to disagree with the adverse report of the committee on the bill. He said if the house disagreed with the report of the committee the bill would be placed on the calendar. If the house sustained the adverse report of the committee the bill would be killed for this session.

Representative Arnold then spoke for an hour allowed him under the rule. He made a plea that the house not repeal the tax equalization law until it provided some other taxation system to take its place. Representative Landford, of Toombs, asked Mr. Arnold if he would agree to taking up the tax equalization repeal next week if the income tax law, in the mean time, should be amended to and passed by the house. Representative Arnold said he would gladly accept such a situation and said he would take this action if any kind of a tax measure is passed in the meantime.

Speaks for Repeal. Representative Stovall, of McDuffie, spoke in behalf of repealing the tax equalization law. He said the legislature might as well try to stop a cyclone by a wave of the hand as to stop the rising tide of sentiment in Georgia in favor of the repeal of this measure. He predicted that the opponents of the "obnoxious equalization law" cannot resist the wave of opposition to the bill much longer.

Next week the question of taxation will be uppermost in both branches of the legislature. The fight over the repeal of the tax equalization law will be fought largely by the action to be taken on the proposed income tax law and other tax measures which will be called up in the house at the earliest opportunity.

The house committee on ways and means has adopted a definite policy of refusing to consider any more appropriations bills until some action is taken on the tax measures so that revenue can be raised to meet the appropriations.

Bowden Takes Floor. Just before the session ended Friday Representative J. E. T. Bowden, of Ware, arose to a point of personal privilege. He quoted a statement issued by the house of Ways and Means to the effect that a recent speech of Representative Bowden was calculated to cause riots and bloodshed in Waycross. Mr. Bowden denied that his speech was calculated to have such an effect.

"If the charge of the mayor of Waycross is true I have no right to serve in this house," he said. "The speech I delivered was calculated to cause any riots or bloodshed I shall tender my resignation to the governor at once. On the other hand if my speech was temperate and not of the character of the speech I should be vindicated," he said.

On motion of Representative Culpepper the house adopted a resolution to the effect that the speech of the Ware county representative was temperate and was simply a defense of the town of Waycross delivered on the floor of the house. The resolution was adopted by unanimous vote.

U. S. TO PUSH PLAN TO DISTRIBUTE COAL

some time keeping a check on undue price advances. There were strong indications in administration circles tonight that the government expected to rely on the question of coal being produced in the non-union fields to supply the railroads and necessary consumers during the emergency.

Plans to distribute coal to the non-union fields would be first to insure sufficient fuel to keep the wheels of the country's transportation system turning and to enable the distribution of coal to the other most necessary industries.

Plan Locations to Break. The plan already adopted for restraint of coal prices to the Garfield basin, threatens to break down, Mr. Hoover said today.

Plans will be discussed at the Monday conference, he said, for making the "voluntary restraint of production" effective in the one or two districts which have refused to cooperate and are now demanding $7.00 a ton for coal at the mine, and further to make it effective against the minority of irresponsible operators in the other districts who have broken away from the agreement.

"The responsible operators are holding to the prices," Mr. Hoover continued. "On the other hand, some pennywise buyers and others are sending out orders today offering $8 at the mines."

Reports at today's cabinet meeting on results to date of the president's appeal for opening of mines in strike territory, did not indicate substantial new production, but more time was said to be needed for a test of its success. Non-union production was found to be running far below the levels of April, May and June, in spite of price incentives for greater production and this was charged up directly to the effectiveness of the railroad strike in the mining territory concerned.

TROOPS ENTRAIN FOR STRIKE AREA. Harrisburg, Pa., July 21.—With troops trains loaded with cavalry and machine gunners moving into southwestern Pennsylvania, the soft coal regions are blanketed in sullen quiet. There were sporadic outbreaks of shooting and dynamiting during the day, but official reports indicated there is no apprehension of dangerous demonstrations on the eve of the arrival of troops.

Colonel Edward J. Stackpole, commanding the 1,100 men in the 104th cavalry and 52d machine gun squadron sent to the coal fields spent one day on a motor tour of investigation in the coal counties. It was understood Stackpole would establish headquarters at Washington, and would station his troops at strategic points where they would command points at which violence is feared.

The troops were expected to detain during the night, and to be encamped at their positions by morning. Mayor Lynn Adams, commanding the state police, accompanied Colonel Stackpole on his tour of inspection. Adams, whose men have been on guard during the 15 weeks of the strike, will assist in establishing co-operation among local authorities, the state police, and the national guard troops.

Baby Clinic Lecture. The "baby clinic" being conducted by the Central Presbyterian church of Atlanta, will be the subject of a talk by Dr. A. G. McAlley before the adult Sunday school classes of the church at 9:30 o'clock this morning. Dr. B. R. Lacy, pastor, will preach in the Sunday school room at 11 o'clock. The Gideons, now in convention here, will hold prayer meeting at the church at 8 o'clock this morning.

BRITT CRAIG POST ORGANIZED FRIDAY

Organization of the Britt Craig post of the World War Volunteer association was perfected and the charter delivered to Vice Commander W. E. Caiger, by State Commander J. A. Alexander, also commander of the fifth district, at a meeting on the Cecil hotel roof last night.

The election of several of the officers and the adoption of laws and by-laws was postponed until the next regular meeting, which will be held next Friday night at the same place. The charter was delivered to the vice commander in the absence of Commander Willard Cope, who was unable to attend as the result of injuries recently received in a railroad accident.

The World War Volunteer association was organized in the Brooklyn navy yards through the efforts of a quartermaster and a yeoman. It grew until some of the posts number into the thousands. The organization has no connection whatever with any political movements. The sole purpose is to assemble in one active body all the men and women who offered their services in the country's hour of need and to help the volunteer in regard to his compensation, training, insurance and such matters as would affect his progress.

The fifth district, in which Atlanta was included, Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia and Florida. Mr. Alexander, division commander, says the next post to be organized will be in Gainesville.

Britt Craig was a member of the reporting staff of The Constitution at the time the war began. He volunteered for service, won a commission in the aviation service and was sent to sail for France when the armistice was declared. He returned to his position on The Constitution, but a few months later he was killed in action. His death occurred in New York City about two months after his arrival there.

The Cecil hotel has the most of the use of the assembly room free of charge for the Friday night meetings for the next month or so, until the organization has been able to obtain quarters ample to accommodate the gatherings.

A free employment bureau will be opened at all ex-service men, whether members of the order or not, and letters have already been sent to all industrial firms in the city asking that they notify the organization of any men wanted.

Headquarters of the post are open at 302 Gould building. The initiation and yearly fees are only $1.

which the United News considers to be reasonably accurate, agrees that there is only the smallest likelihood of Northcliffe recovering. It is the unanimous opinion that he will never return to the old conditions which made him the directing genius of his publications.

Lord Northcliffe is generally described as suffering from a form of brain paralysis which is attributed to the tremendous strain of overwork resulting from the exacting requirements of the modern newspaper industry.

He is reported to be lying in bed in a semi-conscious condition, constantly attended. No callers are allowed in the sick room. He is not allowed to issue orders regarding the direction of his newspapers.

Shows No Improvement. One of the leading officials of The London Times told the United News that the stricken publisher has showed no improvement since a turn for the worse was announced more than a week ago.

Lord Northcliffe's personal direction of his vast newspaper properties ceased when he issued a number of eccentric orders immediately preceding his breakdown while on a recent tour in Switzerland. One of these orders prohibited brothers from working on any of his newspapers because of the danger of nepotism.

If, as is reported, there is danger of the paralysis spreading, the end may be near.

Speculation is going on meanwhile as to the future of the Northcliffe newspapers. It is generally understood that Lord Northcliffe's brother, Lord Rothermere, has already taken over a good share of the properties and their direction although the impetus of Northcliffe's organization created will enable them to continue automatically for some time.

He owns the controlling interest in The Daily Mail, The Evening News, and The Weekly Dispatch, which he always referred to as "my papers." But he only owns a little more than a third interest in The London Times, the paper of the remainder is still owned by the Walter family, who founded the paper. It is probable, therefore, that The Times will pass into other directions in the event of Lord Northcliffe's death.

INJUNCTION ASKED AGAINST STRIKERS

Striking railway shopmen of the various local shopmen's Friday were cited by Judge Samuel H. Sibley to appear in federal court at 10 o'clock Monday morning and show cause why they should be enjoined from using forceful picketing methods.

The rule nisi summoning the strikers to federal court was issued on petition of the Southern Railway and Western and Atlantic, and N. C. & St. L. railways. Two separate complaints were filed. One was filed by Attorney Randolph and Parker and James F. Wright for the Seaboard Air Line railway, and the other was filed by Attorney John L. Tye, representing the N. C. & St. L. and W. & A. railways.

Both petitions alleged that unlawful and violent methods have been used by union pickets to intimidate persons seeking employment at the railroad shops affected by the recent walkout.

Until he hears from the union men, Judge Sibley was unwilling to grant a temporary restraining order against the pickets. John Dean Steward, deputy clerk of the United States court, stated Friday afternoon that representatives of the shopmen's will be given notice formally of the petitions just as soon as preparation of the necessary papers is completed.

The labor forces against which the action was directed were as follows: International Association of Machinists; International Brotherhood of Boilermakers; Iron Ship Builders and Helpers of America; International Brotherhood of Blacksmiths; Drop Forgers; International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers; Brotherhood of Railway Carmen of America; Railway Employees of the United States; American Federation of Labor; and officials of local unions.

Big Meeting Planned. Invitations have been extended to all state, county and city officials and to various civic clubs to attend a mass meeting of the striking railroad men to be held at the City Auditorium Monday night at 8 o'clock.

Governor Hardwick will be the principal speaker. The meeting will have both business and social features, and it is expected to be the largest gathering yet held by the unions.

Robert Corley, of Atlanta, representative of the grand lodge of the International Brotherhood of Boilermakers, and Charles T. Nicholson, of Washington, member of the executive board of the same association, will be the featured speakers at the address.

Entertainment features will include music by the Boys' band and by Charles A. Sholden, Jr., city organist.

Edwards Will Seek Sale of Beer and Wine in Grocery Stores
Savannah, N. J., July 21.—Sale of beer and light wines by grocery stores will be one of the planks in Governor Edwards' platform in his campaign for United States senator, he announced today at his second "governor's day" at Camp Edwards.

He said he opposed the return of saloons. A stamp tax on beers and wines sold in groceries for a year would go far toward reducing other government taxes.

JAMES EDGERTON HEADS ALLIANCE

James A. Edgerton, of Washington, D. C., who has headed the International New Thought Alliance for the last fourteen years, was re-elected Friday president of the organization at the business session in the Auditorium here. The congress will remain in session until Sunday evening.

Other officers re-elected were Miss Nora L. Brooks, of Denver, Colo., first vice president; Dr. H. H. Schroeder, of St. Louis, second vice president; Charles H. Watts, of Philadelphia, treasurer; Garnett January, of Washington, executive secretary; and W. I. Houschner, of Chicago, auditor. Members of the directorate, all of whom were re-elected, include Mrs. Elizabeth Towne, of Holyoke, Mass.; Mrs. E. T. Chapin, of New York; Frederick E. Andrews, of Cincinnati; Mrs. Mary L. S. Butterworth, of Philadelphia; Miss L. B. Elliott, of Piedmont, Cal.; Dr. Albert G. Grier, Spokane, Wash., and Mrs. Eleanor Graham, of New Orleans.

Selection of a city in which to hold the following congress will be finally decided today it was stated. Several cities have asked for the meeting. Speakers on the program Saturday include Mrs. M. M. Moore, of New York; Buffalo, N. Y., her subject being "Meditation for Peace"; Mrs. Ella M. Cheshire, of Memphis, Tenn., on "The Power of the Mind"; Mrs. G. H. Milne, of Milwaukee, Wis., on "Hope"; Mrs. Myra Freyner Wiseman, of San Diego, Cal., on "The New Age"; Miss Julie M. Cooke, of New York, on "Our Royal Birthright"; Sidney A. RAIL BOARD HEAD CALLED TO CAPITAL to obtain a first-hand view of the railroad strike situation, President Harding today called Chairman Hooper, of the railroad labor board, from Chicago for a personal interview tomorrow. Prior to summoning Hooper, the president had received Chairman Cummins' and Senator Kellogg and Watson, of the senate interstate commerce committee, who reported on their conference last night with eastern railroad executives, and later the whole question was taken up for discussion in a prolonged cabinet session.

The president was represented as desirous as hearing from Mr. Hooper on account of the positions taken by the leaders of striking shopmen, the rail executives and the board itself during the negotiations aimed at a strike settlement, but which have been broken off. Some conflicting reports in the matter have been received at the white house, especially since the conference held last night by the three interstate commerce committee senators and the executives of the larger eastern trunk lines.

Daughter in Conference. Meanwhile, Attorney General Daugherty conferred at the capital with Senator Borah, chairman of the senate labor committee, and then with Mr. Cummins, the discussions involving the possibility of legal action in both the railroad and the coal strikes, although the attorney general stated afterward that no immediate legal proceedings were under contemplation.

With Mr. Borah, the attorney general discussed the railroad strike situation in the west, while with Mr. Cummins he went over the entire legal situation as it concerns both the

FORMER FLORIDA GOVERNOR FILES BANKRUPTCY PLEA

Pensacola, Fla., July 21.—Sidney J. Catts, former governor of Florida, who is under indictment charging pecuniary mismanagement of the state's affairs, filed a petition in the United States courts here today. The total liabilities listed amounted to $43,032.73 with assets of $1,910.

The largest single claim listed in the petition was in behalf of F. L. Jeter, for approximately $18,000 in connection with the Consumer's Food stores and American Purchasing Agency, of Atlanta, Ga., which was contracted this year. Most of his debts, however, including two bonds for small sums which he had stood in Alabama in 1908 and never paid, are of long standing.

The only real estate listed as assets is an equity claim on ten acres of land in Washington county under contract for which he has never obtained title, it is valued at $50.

RYAN IS BANKRUPT AFTER BIG DEAL

was a director in such corporations as Bethlehem Steel, Ryan Petroleum, Continental Candy, Morton Petroleum and many others.

It was Ryan's greatest coup that marked the beginning of his slide toward bankruptcy. That was the Stutz deal.

It was in early 1920 that Stutz began to act in a way that suggested a corner.

It hit $400 a share. Governors of the stock exchange made an investigation and declared there was cornering. There was a large outstanding "short" interest, and Ryan, acting the exchange brought the "shorts" to a settlement at $25 a share.

Refuse to Appear. Refusing to appear when summoned before the governors of the exchange, Ryan was expelled. He then sued the exchange for $4,000,000.

With these developments predictions were freely made that Ryan had made mistakes in such powerful circles that trouble was ahead for him. In November his assets were placed in the hands of trustees. Then the Continental Candy company, in which he was the dominant figure, was forced into receivership. During the early months of this year he resigned from the board of directors of practically every big concern in which he was interested.

Mrs. Clendenning J. Ryan, a sister-in-law, brought suit on a claim for $1,755,000, the suit being based on alleged transactions in connection with the Stutz stock. Two other suits aggregating $620,000 were filed soon after the suit of Mrs. Ryan.

Following these developments there was a constantly increasing number of rumors of Ryan's difficulties, and Friday came the crash.

Attorneys for Ryan would make no statement, and Ryan could not be located.

railroads and the coal strikes, the result being, Mr. Daugherty said, "that the government has as much power and authority to protect the mails and interstate commerce. The government has full power and authority to see that the production incident to transportation is not interfered with."

SOUTHERN WORKERS 87 PCT. FOR STRIKE.

Chattanooga, Tenn., July 21.—While official statement of the result of the strike ballot, counted here last night and today, has been withheld on orders from headquarters, it was stated tonight that the clerks on the Southern railway system had voted 87 per cent to walk out as a protest against a wage reduction.

Ballots were sent out from local headquarters here on July 3 to every railroad office on the system, and members of the clerks' brotherhood here today expressed the opinion that the men would strike within a few days, which he was the dominant figure in the Southern railway system. Service on the belt railroad is paralyzed, and manufacturers are experiencing difficulty in making shipments and receiving material. The coal situation is more acute, with the prediction that famine conditions are imminent here within a few days.

MAON POLICE ON LONGER SHIFTS.

Macon, Ga., July 21.—(Special.)—Maon police were placed on 12-hour shifts beginning today for the period of the railroad strike. Hereafter they have been on 8-hour shifts. In addition 10 new men were added to the force.

Extra policemen are being placed on duty around the railroad shops to preserve order, reports of numerous threats against railroad property and the fact that the men in the shops have come to the attention of the police, it is reported.

J. A. Read, the only man so far arrested here in connection with strike disorders, was held in the $800 bond when arraigned before Recorder Hunter today. He is alleged to have appeared at the Division street side of the Central of Georgia roundhouse and pointed a pistol at several workers on the inside. No shots were fired. Groups of strikers were congregated in the vicinity of the shops here today watching developments, but there were no disorders.

CALLED MEETING OF WAYCROSS COUNCIL.

Waycross, Ga., July 21.—(Special.)—All developments of last 24 hours have been for enforcement of law and order. Last evening there was a called meeting of the city council at which Aldermen Smith, Falligant, Stanton, Taylor and Miller were present with the mayor presiding. At this meeting there was thorough discussion of the existing condition in Waycross. Strong talks were made by all the aldermen announcing their full support as aldermen to the mayor and the city police department in securing a full enforcement of the law. The council was unanimous that enforcement of law was pre-eminent and that it should take precedence of all other things.

At the meeting of the union men this morning the resolution passed by council was unanimously adopted and the men emphasized the resolution previously passed by them pledging their full support for all officials, both county and city, in the enforcement of law and offering their services in helping to maintain the law.

At 10:30 this morning the county commissioners met and individually and as members of the county commission of Ware county, reiterated their stand for the enforcement of law and order.

At 11 o'clock this morning a mass meeting of citizens was held at the municipal building. This was a meeting of the citizens who are not associated with either the unions or the railways.

BELL Hops Fight for Guest's Tip

A QUICKLY subdued common action arose yesterday in one of our downtown hotels.

It seems that a traveling man mentioned to one of the guests, in an indelicately loud voice, that he could give him a tip on where to get a regular man's sized drink without molestation and at just the ordinary price in the lobby.

Two bell hops crowded in to get the tip, too, and in their eagerness one got a bit rough. This, naturally, led to loud words and in just a jiffy the two youths were in a regular fight in the lobby.

The traveling man separated them good-naturedly and said: "There isn't anything to fight over. I'll give the tip to you and to everyone here. What I started to say was that the best drink I've had in many a day was a cold bottle of Nutrape I bought just down the street. It fitted my thirst the snuggest of any drink I've had in years."

TAX EQUALIZATION BATTLE RENEWED

The final battle over the repeal of the tax equalization law will be waged in the house next week, beginning immediately after the period of unanimous consent is ended Tuesday morning. The house adjourned in the midst of a debate over the question of placing the bill on the calendar at 1 o'clock Friday and will reconvene Monday. By a motion adopted it was agreed that the tax equalization law discussion will resume Tuesday morning. On all test votes in the house Friday advocates of the repeal measure won by substantial majorities.

Development of a smooth-working filibuster against placing the repeal bill on the calendar was one of the features of the Friday session. Representative Arnold, of Clay, led the filibuster and it probably will run over into the session next week, although it will not last as long in the house as it did in the senate last week, due to the adoption of a limitation of debate rule.

Opponents of the repeal bill raised the point Friday that the house could not consider the repeal bill at this time since the senate last week voted to defeat it. Representative Bentley, of Fulton, asserted the house could not consider the bill under the constitutional provisions which require a two-thirds vote of the members of the branch defeating the bill.

Speaker Cecil Neill ruled that the house was within its rights in considering the tax equalization bill at this time regardless of the adverse action taken on a similar measure in the senate. He overruled the point of order of Representative Arnold. Speaker Neill explained that the question before the house was whether the house would adopt a motion to disagree with the adverse report of the committee on the bill. If the house sustained the adverse report of the committee the bill would be killed for this session.

Representative Arnold then spoke for an hour allowed him under the rule. He made a plea that the house not repeal the tax equalization law until it provided some other taxation system to take its place. Representative Lankford, of Toombs, asked Mr. Arnold if he would agree to taking up the tax equalization repeal next week if the income tax law, in the mean time, should be submitted to and passed by the house. Representative Arnold said he would gladly accept such a situation and said he would take this action if any kind of a tax measure is passed in the meantime.

Speaks for Repeal.
Representative Stovall, of McDuffie, spoke in behalf of repealing the tax equalization law. He said the legislature might as well try to stop a cyclone by a wave of the hand as to stop the rising tide of sentiment in Georgia in favor of the repeal of this measure. He predicted that the opposition of the "obnoxious equalization law" cannot resist the wave of opposition to the bill much longer.

Next week the question of taxation will be uppermost in both branches of the legislature. The fight over the repeal of the tax equalization law will be affected largely by the action to be taken on the proposed income tax law and other tax measures which will be called up in the house at the earliest opportunity.

The house committee on ways and means has adopted a definite policy of refusing to consider any more appropriations bills until some action is taken on the tax measures so that revenue can be raised to meet the appropriations.

Bowden Takes Floor.
Just before the session ended Friday Representative J. E. T. Bowden, of Ware, arose to a point of personal privilege. He quoted a statement issued by the majority of Ways and Means committee a recent speech of Representative Bowden was calculated to cause riots and bloodshed in Waycross. Mr. Bowden denied that his speech was calculated to have such an effect.

"If the charge of the mayor of Waycross is true I have no right to deny it," he said. "If the members of this house will say that the speech I delivered was calculated to cause any riots or bloodshed I shall tender my resignation to the governor at once. On the other hand if my speech was temperate and not of the nature which I should be vindicated," he said.

On motion of Representative Culpepper the house adopted a resolution to the effect that the speaker of the house and the members of the house were not to be held responsible for the speech of any member of the house.

U. S. TO PUSH PLAN TO DISTRIBUTE COAL

same time keeping a check on undue price advances.
There were strong indications in administration circles tonight that the government expected to rely on a distribution of coal being produced in the non-union fields to supply the railroads and necessary consumers during the emergency.

The aim of the administration, it was understood, would be to insure sufficient fuel to keep the wheels of the country's transportation system turning and thus to enable the distribution of coal to the other most necessary industries.

Plan Threatens to Break.
There has been evidence that the plan already adopted for restraint of coal prices to the Garfield basin, threatens to break down, Mr. Hoover said today.

Plans will be discussed at the Monday conference, he said, for making the "voluntary restraint of production" effective in the one or two districts which have refused to co-operate and are now demanding $7.50 a ton for coal at the mine, and further to make it effective against the minority of irresponsible operators in the coal fields who have broken away from the agreement.

"The responsible operators are holding to the price," Mr. Hoover continued. "On the other hand some pennywise railway buyers and others are sending out orders today offering $5 at the mines."
Reports at today's cabinet meeting on the status of the president's appeal for opening of mines in strike territory, did not indicate substantial new production, but more time was said to be needed for a test of its success. Non-union production was found to be running far below the levels of April, May and June, in spite of price incentives for greater production and this was charged up directly to the effectiveness of the railroad strike in the mining territory concerned.

TROOPS ENTRAIN FOR STRIKE AREA.
Harrisburg, Pa., July 21.—With troop trains loaded with cavalry and machine gunners moving into southwestern Pennsylvania, the soft coal regions are blanketed in sullen quiet. There were sporadic outbreaks of shooting and dynamiting during the day, but official reports indicated there is no apprehension of dangerous demonstrations on the eve of the arrival of troops.

Colonel Edward J. Stackpole, commanding the 1,100 men in the 104th cavalry and 72d machine gunners sent to the coal fields spent the day on a motor tour of investigation in the coal counties. It was understood Stackpole accompanied Colonel Stackpole on his tour of inspection. Adams, whose men have been on guard during the 15 weeks of the strike, will assist in establishing cooperation among local authorities, the state police, and the national guard troops.

Baby Clinic Lecture.
The "baby clinic" being conducted by the Central Presbyterian church of Atlanta, will be the subject of a talk by Dr. A. G. McAliley before the adult Sunday school classes of the church at 9:30 o'clock this morning. Dr. B. R. Lacy, pastor, will preach in the Sunday school room at 11 o'clock. The Gideons, now in convention here, will hold prayer meeting at the church at 8 o'clock this morning.

BRITT CRAIG POST ORGANIZED FRIDAY

Organization of the Britt Craig post of the World War Volunteer association was perfected and the charter delivered to Vice Commander W. E. Calger, by State Commander J. A. Alexander, also commander of the fifth district, at a meeting on the fifth floor last night.

The election of several of the officers and the adoption of laws and by-laws was postponed until the next regular meeting, which will be held next Friday night at the same place. The charter was delivered to the vice commander in the absence of Commander Willard Cope, who was unable to attend as the result of injuries recently received in a railroad accident.

W. H. Craig, Gainesville, and Mrs. Myrtle Craig Nimmer, father and sister of the young aviator for whom the post was named, were elected to honorary membership of the organization.

The World War Volunteer association was organized in the Brooklyn navy yards through the efforts of a quartermaster and a yeoman. It has grown until some of the posts number into the thousands. The organization has no connection whatever with any political movements. The sole purpose is to assemble in one active body all the men and women who offered their services in the country's hour of need; to assist and develop patriotism; and to help the volunteer in regard to his compensation, training, insurance and such matters as would affect him. It proposes to build the finest order of chivalry in the world.

The fifth district, in which Atlanta comes, includes Virginia, North and South Carolina, Georgia and Florida. Mr. Alexander, division commander, says the next post to be organized will be in Gainesville.

Britt Craig was a member of the editorial staff of The Constitution at the time he was killed. He volunteered for service, won a commission in the aviation service and was sent to sail for France when the armistice was declared. He returned to his position on The Constitution, but a few months later accepted a place on a New York newspaper. His death occurred in New York City about two months after his arrival there.

The Craig hotel has granted the use of the assembly room for the next month or so, until the organization has been able to obtain quarters ample to accommodate the gatherings.

A free employment bureau will be opened to all ex-service men, whether members of the order or not. Letters have already been sent to all industrial firms in the city asking that they notify the organization of any men wanted.

Headquarters of the post are open at 302 Gould building. The initiation and yearly fees are only $1.

which the United News considers to be reasonably accurate, agrees that there is only the smallest likelihood of Northcliffe recovering. It is the unanimous opinion that the ill condition which made him the directing genius of his publications.

Lord Northcliffe is generally described as suffering from a form of brain paralysis which is attributed to the tremendous strain of overwork resulting from the exacting requirements of the modern newspaper industry.

He is reported to be lying in bed in a semi-conscious condition, constantly attended. No callers are allowed in the sick room. He is not allowed to issue orders regarding the direction of his newspapers.

Shows No Improvement.
One of the leading officials of The London Times told the United News that the stricken publisher has shown no improvement since a turn for the worse was announced more than a week ago.

Lord Northcliffe's personal direction of his vast newspaper properties ceased when he issued a number of eccentric orders immediately preceding his breakdown while on a recent tour in Switzerland. One of these orders prohibited brothers from working on any of his newspapers because of the danger of nepotism.

If, as is reported, there is danger of the paralysis spreading, the end may be near.

Speculation is going on meanwhile as to the future of the Northcliffe newspapers. It is generally understood that Lord Northcliffe's brother, Lord Rothermere, has already taken over a good share of the properties and their direction although the impetus of Northcliffe's organization operated to enable them to continue automatically for some time.

He owns the controlling interest in The Daily Mail, The Evening News, and The Weekly Dispatch, which he always referred to as "my papers." But he only owns a little more than a third interest in The London Times. Part of the remainder is still owned by the Walter family, who founded the paper. It is probable, therefore, that The Times will pass into other directions in the event of Lord Northcliffe's death.

INJUNCTION ASKED AGAINST STRIKERS

Striking railway shippers of the United States have petitioned for an injunction against the strikers in federal court at 10 o'clock Monday morning and show cause why they should be restrained from using forceful picketing methods.

The rule nisi summoning the strikers to federal court was issued on petition of the United States shippers of the Western and Atlantic, and N. C. & S. L. railways. Two separate complaints were filed. One was filed by the United States shippers of the Western and Atlantic, and the other was filed by Attorney John L. Tye, representing both the C. & S. L. and W. & A. railways.

Both petitions alleged that unlawful and violent methods have been used by union pickets to intimidate persons seeking employment at the railroad shops affected by the recent walkout.

Until he hears from the union men, Judge Sibley was unwilling to grant a temporary restraining order against the pickets. John Dean Steward, deputy clerk of the United States court, stated Friday afternoon that representatives of the shippers will be given notice formally of the petitions as soon as preparation of the necessary papers is completed.

The labor forces against which the action was directed were as follows: International Association of Machinists; International Brotherhood of Teamsters; Iron Ship Builders and Helpers of America; International Brotherhood of Blacksmiths; Iron Ship Builders and Helpers of America; Brotherhood of Electrical Workers; Brotherhood of Railway Carmen of America; Railway Employees of the department of the American Federation of Labor; and officials of local unions.

Meeting Planned.
Invitations have been extended to all state, county and city officials and to various civic clubs to attend a mass meeting of the striking railroad men to be held at the City Auditorium Monday night at 8 o'clock.

Governor Hardwick will be the principal speaker. The meeting will have both business and social features, and is expected to be the largest gathering yet held by the unions.

Robert Corley, of Atlanta, representative of the grand lodge of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters, and Charles T. Nicholson, of Washington, member of the executive board of the same association, will be invited to give short addresses.

Entertainment features will include music by the Boys' band and by Charles A. Sheldon, Jr., city organist.

Edwards Will Seek Sale of Beer and Wine in Grocery Stores
Sagert, N. J., July 21.—Sale of beer and light wines by grocery stores will be one of the planks in Governor Edwards' platform in his campaign for United States senator, he announced today at his second "governor's day" at Camp Edwards.

He said he opposed the return of saloons. A stamp tax on beers and wines sold in grocery stores would go far toward reducing other government taxes.

JAMES EDGERTON HEADS ALLIANCE

James A. Edgerton, of Washington, D. C., who has headed the International New Thought Alliance for the last fourteen years, was re-elected Friday president of the organization at the business session in the Auditorium here. The congress will remain in session until Sunday evening.

Other officers re-elected were Miss Nona L. Brooks, of Denver, Colo., first vice president; Dr. H. H. Schroeder, of St. Louis, second vice president; Charles H. Watts, of Philadelphia, treasurer; Garnett January, of Washington, executive secretary; and W. I. Houschouer, of Chicago, auditor. Members of the directorate, all of whom were re-elected, include Mrs. Elizabeth Joyce, of Holyoke, Mass.; Mrs. E. T. Chapin, of New York; Frederick E. Andrews, of Cincinnati; Mrs. Mary L. S. Butterworth, of Philadelphia; Miss L. B. Elliott, of Piedmont, Cal.; Dr. Albert G. Grier, of Spokane, Wash.; and Mrs. Eleanor Graham, of New Orleans.

Plans were discussed for a universal drive in the interests of the New Thought movement, the purpose of this campaign being to spread the gospel of the alliance to all corners of the globe. Four field lecturers were appointed to begin this work immediately. They are Mrs. Annie Rix Miller, of Los Angeles, Cal.; Mrs. Mary L. S. Butterworth, of Philadelphia, Pa.; Mrs. E. T. Chapin, of New York; and Mrs. Towne, of Holyoke, Mass.

Selection of a city in which to hold the 1923 congress will be finally decided today. It was stated several cities have asked for the meeting.

Speakers on the program Saturday include Mrs. Margaret A. Nichols, of Buffalo, N. Y., her subject being "Meditation for Peace"; Mrs. Ella M. Cheshire, of Memphis, Tenn., on "The Body"; the Rev. John A. E. Mrs. Myra Frenyren Wiseman, of San Diego, Cal., on "The New Age"; Miss Julie M. Brooks, of New York, on "The Royal Birthright"; Sidney A. Wolmer, of Nevada, Mo., on "Telepathy a Factor in Adjusting World Thought"; and Dr. Amelia Randall, of New York, on "New Thought in Everyday Religion."

RANDALL LEADING IN NEBRASKA VOTE
Omaha, Neb., July 21.—Charles H. Randall, of Kansas, has led in the race for the republican gubernatorial nomination, when 1,902 of the state's 1,913 precincts had reported at 10:30 o'clock today.

These precincts which represented all counties of the state indicated 473 for Adam McMullen, of Beatrice, for the republican gubernatorial nomination, when 1,902 of the state's 1,913 precincts had reported at 10:30 o'clock today.

RYAN IS BANKRUPT AFTER BIG DEALS

was a director in such corporations as Bethlehem Steel, Ryan Petroleum, Continental Candy, Morton Petroleum and many others.

It was Ryan's greatest coup that marked the beginning of his side-track bankruptcy. That was the Stutz deal.

It was in early 1920 that Stutz began to act in a way that suggested a corner.

It took $400 a share. Governors of the stock exchange made an investigation and declared there was cornering. There was a large outstanding "short" interest, and Ryan, using the "exchange" brought the "shorts" to a settlement at $225 a share.

Refuse to Appear.
Refusing to appear when summoned before the governors of the exchange, Ryan was expelled. He then sued the exchange for $1,000,000.

With these developments predictions were freely made that Ryan had made enemies in such powerful circles that trouble was ahead for him. In November his assets were placed in the hands of trustees, when the Continental Candy company was forced into receivership.

During the early months of this year he resigned from the board of directors of practically every big concern in which he was interested.

Mrs. Clendenning J. Ryan, a sister-in-law, brought suit on a claim for $1,750,000, the suit being based on alleged transactions in connection with the Stutz stock. Two other suits aggregating $630,000 were filed soon after the suit of Mrs. Ryan.

Following these developments there was a constantly increasing number of rumors of Ryan's difficulties, and Friday came the crash.

Attorneys for Ryan would make no statement, and Ryan could not be located.

RAIL BOARD HEAD CALLED TO CAPITAL

to obtain a first-hand view of the railroad strike situation, President Harding today called Chairman Hooper of the railroad board here from Chicago for a personal interview tomorrow. Prior to summoning the labor board head, the president received Chairman Cummins and Senators Kellogg and Watson, of the senate interstate commerce committee, reported on their conference last night with eastern railroad executives, and later the whole question was taken up for discussion in a prolonged cabinet session.

The president was represented as desirous as hearing from Mr. Hooper on account of the positions taken by the leaders of striking shippers, the rail executives and the board itself during the negotiations aimed at a strike settlement, but which have been broken off. Some conflicting reports in the matter have been received at the white house, especially since the conference held last night by the three interstate commerce committee members and the executives of the larger eastern trunk lines.

Daughterly in Conference.
Meanwhile, Attorney General Daugherty conferred at the capitol with Senator Borah, chairman of the senate labor committee, and then with Mr. Cummins, the discussions involving the possibility of legal action in both the railroad and coal strikes, although the attorney-general stated afterward that no immediate legal proceedings were under contemplation.

With Mr. Borah, the attorney-general discussed the railroad strike situation in the west, while with Mr. Cummins, he went over the entire legal situation as it concerns both the railroads and the coal strikes, the result being, Mr. Daugherty said, that he and Mr. Cummins were in agreement as to the government's power to act in both cases.

"I have not any doubt," the attorney-general said later, "that the government has as much power and authority as it needs to see that the production incident to transportation is not interfered with."

SOUTHERN WORKERS 87 PCT. FOR STRIKE.
Chattanooga, Tenn., July 21.—While official statement of the result of the strike ballot, counted here last night and today, has been withheld on orders from headquarters, it was stated tonight that the clerks on the Southern railway system had voted 87 per cent to walk out as a protest against a wage reduction.

Ballots were sent out from local headquarters here on July 3 to every railroad office on the system, and more than 7,500 votes were returned. Members of the clerks' brotherhood here today expressed the opinion that the men would strike within a few days, in which case the strike of the Southern's service.

Conditions in the local yards are becoming more serious, with railroad officials acting as pitmen and in other capacities in an effort to move as much traffic as possible. Service on the belt railroad is paralyzed, and manufacturers are experiencing difficulty in making shipments. The coal situation is more acute, with the prediction that famine conditions are imminent here within a few days.

MACON POLICE ON LONGER SHIFTS.
Macon, Ga., July 21.—(Special).—Macon police were placed on 12-hour shifts beginning today for the period of the railroad strike. Before they have been on 8-hour shifts, in addition 10 new men were added to the force.

Extra policemen are being placed on duty around the railroad shops to preserve order, reports of numerous threats against railroad property and persons receiving material. The shops have come to the attention of the police, it is reported.

J. A. Read, the only man so far arrested here in connection with strike disorders, was held under $500 bond when arraigned before Recorder Hunter today. He is alleged to have appeared at the Division street side of the Central of Georgia roundhouse, pointed a pistol at several workers on the inside. No shots were fired.

Groups of strikers were congregated in the vicinity of the shops here today watching developments, but there were no disorders.

CALLED MEETING OF WAYCROSS COUNCIL.
Waycross, Ga., July 21.—(Special).—All developments of last 24 hours have been for enforcement of law and order. Last evening there was a called meeting of the city council at which Aldermen Smith, Fallgatter, Stanton, Taylor and Miller were present with the mayor presiding. At this meeting there was thorough discussion of the existing condition in Waycross. Strong talks were made by all the aldermen announcing their full support as adherents to the mayor and the city police department in securing a full enforcement of the law. The council was unanimous that enforcement of law was pre-eminent and that it should take precedence of all other things.

At the meeting of the union men this morning the resolution passed by the council was unanimously adopted and the men emphasized the resolution previously passed by them pledging their full support for all officials, both county and city, in the enforcement of the law and offering their services in helping to maintain the law.

At 10:30 this morning the county commissioners met and individually as members of the county commission of Ware county, reiterated their stand for the enforcement of law and order.

At 11 o'clock this morning a mass meeting of citizens was held at the municipal building. This was a meeting of the citizens who are not associated with either the unions or the railways.

BELL Hops Fight for Guest's Tip

A QUICKLY subdued commotion arose yesterday in one of our downtown hotels.

It seems that a traveling man mentioned to one of the guests, in an indiscreetly loud voice, that he could give him a tip on where to get a regular man's sized drink without molestation and at just the ordinary price.

Two bell hops crowded in to get the tip, too, and in their eagerness one got a bit rough. This, naturally, led to loud words and in just a jiffy the two youths were in a regular fight in the lobby.

The traveling man separated them good-naturedly and said: "There isn't anything to fight over. I'll give the tip to you and to everyone here. What I started to say was that the best drink I've had in many a day was a cold bottle of Nutrape I bought just down the street. It fitted my thirst the snugest of any drink I've had in years."

NOW DO MY WORK WITH EASE

Because Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Restored My Health

Hornell, N. Y.—"I was in bad health but there didn't seem to be any one thing the matter with me. I was tired out all over and it was an effort for me to move. I was irritable and could not sleep nights and had trouble with my bowels and at my periods. It seemed that nearly every one around me knew of my medicine and wanted me to try it, so last I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Tablets and Lydia E. Pinkham's Blood Medicine and improved every day. I do all my own work now except the washing and do it with ease. I can accomplish as much in a day now as it would have taken me a week to do last winter and I try to get every one I know to take your medicine to build them up. You are welcome to use this letter as a testimonial if you like."—Mrs. CHAS. BAKER, 21 Spencer Ave., Hornell, N. Y.

CHAPTER IX.

At Coter Malone's.

The porter at Coter Malone's Klondike palace was lighting the huge oil lamps as the girl Kitty sauntered to the bar with her dancing partner. Coter Malone was standing behind the bar in earnest conversation with Johnnie Claw. A man brushed past her, one of Malone's despicable lieutenants, and whispered earnestly to the two. Unperceived, Kitty managed to edge near, and the next instant she was all attention. For from the detached words that came to her ears, she made out, "Ace-In-The-Hole," and "the girl," and then Malone, whose voice carried above the others issued an order. "The shack behind the saw mill. Get him sussed. Knock him out if you have to—but don't kill him. Once we get the lead me an' Claw—the rest of the sentence was lost at a blended with an added order of Claws. "Ace-In-The-Hole!" thought Kitty. "What did it mean? And yet—"

She saw Malone cross the room and speak in a whisper to four men who were playing solo at a table. She knew those men, Stumpy Cooley, and his three companions. The men nodded, and went on with their game. The evening crowd foregathered. At the conclusion of a dance, Kitty saw Malone speak to the four men at the table. They threw down their cards, and sauntered casually from the room. Kitty dashed up the stairway to her room where she pulled a pair of heavy woolen stockings over her silk ones. She jammed a cap over her ears and slipping into a heavy fur coat, stepped out into the hall and came face to face with Johnnie Claw. "Where do you think you're going?" asked the man with a sneer.

"It's none of your business," snapped the girl. "You haven't got any strings on me."

"Listen here, I seen you tryin' to hear what me an' Malone was talkin' about. I don't know how much you heard, but you heard enough, so you key' pretty close on all of us. I'll be back in yer room 'fore I put you there!"

As the girl tried to spring past him, Claw's fist caught her squarely in the chin and without a sound she crashed backward across the door sill. Swiftly the man reached down and dragged her into the room, locked the door, and thrusting the key into his pocket, walked down stairs.

How long she lay there, Kitty did not know. Consciousness returned slowly. Then the whole train of events flashed through her brain. She staggered to the door. It was locked. She rushed to the window, but its double sash, nailed tight for the winter, was immovable. In a sudden frenzy she seized a chair and smashed the glass. Leaning far out, she looked down. Her room was at the side of the building, near the rear, and she saw that a huge snowdrift had formed where the wind eddied around the corner. Only a moment she hesitated, then standing upright on the sill, she leaped far out and landed squarely in the center of the huge drift. Struggling to her feet she walked to the street, and ran swiftly through the darkness in the direction of the sawmill.

When the door had closed behind her, Mrs. Reeves had insisted upon Snowdrift's taking a much needed rest upon the lounge in the living room, and dispatching Reeves upon an errand to a neighbor's, busied herself in the kitchen. The girl lay back among the pillows wondering when her lover would return when the sound of a knock sent her flying to the door. She drew back startled when, instead of Brent she was confronted by a stranger.

"Is there a lady here name of Snowdrift?" asked the man.

"Yes, yes!" she answered quickly. "What has happened?"

"It's him—yer man—Ace-In-The-Hole," he answered.

"Oh, what is it?" cried the girl, "has he been hurt?"

"Well—not yet, but you might say, he's headin' up on hough, I seen an' an' him comin' in the river, an' I figured nebber you could handle him."

A low sob that ended in a moan trembled upon the girl's lip. "Wait!" she commanded, and slipping into the room, caught up her cap and parka, and stepping out into the darkness, closed the door noiselessly behind her. "Take me to him—quickly!" she said. The man led the way to the rear, and pushed open a door. Snowdrift found herself in a dimly lighted hallway. Coter Malone stepped forward with a smile. "Just a minute, lady. Better put this here veil over yer face. He's upstairs, an' we got to go in."

And Then He Changed His Mind—By Dunn

RAIDEN RESIGNS AS MANAGER OF LOCAL CLUB

Crackers Drop Mobile Team Registers Five Tallies After Two Were Out in Last Frame

Double-Header Billed for Today, First Game Starting at 1:45—Manager Niehoff Is Banished by Umps.

BY CLIFF WHEATLEY.

For eight innings at Ponce de Leon yesterday, most of the Mobile fingers bused in carving out another humiliation for the Crackers belonged to "Rhino" Williams.

But the locals were surprising the most rabid of their rooters by sticking within striking distance all the time, matching Mr. Williams' three consecutive two-base hits with some smart batting themselves, and at the close of the final catastrophe were only one run behind.

Just as it appeared to the assembled customers, composed both of the paying and the dangerous sex, that the Crackers were about to enter the ninth inning with a chance to tie, even dizzier heights and won't the Braves started out their famous batting streaks, six straight hits netting five runs, the Crackers dropping the first battle of a three-game series to the visitors, 8 to 2.

Fate decreed, too, that a former Atlanta manager, discarded earlier in the season in favor of a manager who, himself yesterday also gave over the burden to other shoulders, should begin the trouble. Roy Ellum it was who singled sharply to left field, Leathers and Baker had been retired, unhooking the attack which ended only when the Crackers were on the ropes and most of the assembled hundreds were on their way home to supper.

And all the time, good old "Wal' Bill" Raiden was watching for the last time an Atlanta team go down in defeat.

Mitchell, the right-hander, obtained by the Crackers in the deal which sent Johnny Suggs to the Memphis Chickies, started his first game for the locals, and with this youngster being the official blame for dropping the contest, he showed considerable wariness, and so say that he looks promising, but not sufficiently emphatic.

Pitted against the greatest bunch of sluggers in the Southern circuit, Mitchell was a long way from looking bad. He withstood a severe test in the second, when the Bears were dangerous. And while the visitors scored once in the fourth, they might have unsexed many more had not the young hurler possessed courage to stick them down the correct groove.

Mitchell's downfall came after he had used up all his bullets in repelling the early charges of the Braves. After the gut coast outfit had registered its third tally, the young collegian was yanked, Napier going to the pit. The change was made in the sixth frame, one runner had scored and two of the bases were occupied and none down.

Acosta, a Cuban hurler knocked out in his last start for Manager Niehoff, successfully negotiated the entire distance and was good enough to assert that his game wasn't badly pitched.

The Crackers put men on bases a number of times and possibly should have had another marker or two, but for the most part Acosta was in little trouble. After he had been given two-run lead by his comrades, Acosta let up somewhat in the fifth and four singles in a row gave Boss Spiller's employees their only runs scored during the melee.

Niehoff Banished. The Braves' victory was secured after their manager, Bert Niehoff, had been chased from the orchard by Umpire Campbell, Napier going to the pit. The change was made in the sixth frame, one runner had scored and two of the bases were occupied and none down.

The second of "Rhino" Williams' three extra base clouts paved the way for the Bears' first run, which was scored in the fourth. After the locals had made a wonderful catch of Rhin's double back of second, "Rhino" doubled to right field bank, scoring on Baker's single to right.

Acosta walked for Mobile's starter in the fifth, when another tally was recorded. He went to second when D. Williams singled to left. On an attempted sacrifice by Mullen, Mitchell's throw to third nipped Acosta. Mullen singled to center, D. Williams stopping at third. Rhin's double followed, D. Williams scoring before Mullen was caught off second, Mayer to Bernsen to Klugman.

Crackers Tie Score. Bernsen's single to right was the opening gun in the Crackers' fifth inning assault. Joe Guyon followed with an infield hit. Bernsen advanced. Klugman singled to right, scoring Bernsen, but Klugman was caught at second in an effort to stretch his hit. Guyon stopping at third. Smith singled to right, scoring Guyon.

The Braves scored their third run in the sixth. "Rhino" Williams put up his third double, scoring to right. He went to third when Leathers substituted for Niehoff at second—sacrificed, and scored on Baker's single.

The hidden ball trick was worked by Bernsen and Moore in the eighth to catch Mullen, who had started another rally, but in the ninth all the magic imaginable could not have stopped the Bears.

Leathers and Baker were easy outs, but Napier wouldn't regard Roy Ellum as a dangerous swatter and the former Cracker manager retaliated by singling to left. He went to second on Acosta's single and scored on D. Williams one-timer. Williams and Acosta crossed when Mullins doubled to center and Mullen registered after Mullen's single to left field.

Mullen reached second on the throw-in and scored when Huhn singled to left. "Rhino" Williams mercifully went out on a long drive to Huhn.

Two games will be played today.

Giants Lose, 5 to 3.
Cincinnati, July 21.—Coach out-pitched Tony today and the Reds won the third game of the series with the Giants, 5 to 3. The home team bunched hits in the fifth and sixth innings and earned all their runs. Barnes relieved Tony in the seventh and blanked the Reds. The Reds had not beaten New York since early in May.

Cards Win, 6-1.
St. Louis, July 21.—Jack Four-nier's home run with the bases full in the eighth gave the Cardinals a 6 to 1 victory over Boston here today. It was the third straight for St. Louis over the Braves and moved to within .004 of the league leading Giants, who lost to Cincinnati. Prior to the eighth Watson had hurled sensationally. In this inning four hits and two errors gave the Cardinals their runs. The Braves hit safely 14 times and drew six bases on balls, but could score only once.

WILLARD WANTS MORE TIME TO TRAIN

Los Angeles, Cal., July 21.—(Special.)—Willard will not consider September 22 as a date for his proposed championship bout with Jack Dempsey, according to Gene Doyle, the challenger's local representative. Willard wants an additional two or three weeks of training to make sure that he will be in condition for the match.

Meanwhile, Teddy Hayes, Jack Dempsey's trainer, who is here for the purpose, some say, of getting a line on Willard, will not be welcome at the big fellow's Hollywood training camp.

"Willard doesn't want any member of the Dempsey outfit hanging around while he is working," explained Doyle.

PLAYFELLOW MAY RACE BEFORE MUCH LONGER

New York, July 21.—Playfellow, the renegade brother of the famous Man o' War, is a windsucker and a cribber on the track, in the opinion of the supreme court and in the appellate division of the supreme court as well. There was some hope that the unfortunate colt, which sold for $100,000 about a year ago, would be cleared of the shameful charges against him when his case came to a final decision on the appeal from the supreme court's finding. But the appellate division sustained the conviction in a decision Friday.

James H. Johnson, the well-known breeder of race horses, appealed the case after the court of original jurisdiction had ordered him to refund Playfellow's selling price of $100,000 to Harry F. Sinclair, the oil millionaire and racing man. The horse failed miserably in Sinclair's colors and he used to get back his money.

Playfellow may yet surprise them all, however. He hasn't been racing this season owing to the litigation but in workouts he has shown superb condition.

TODAY'S SCHEDULE IN ABSO LEAGUE

Woodward avenue vs. Washington street, at Grant park; Kirkwood vs. A. C. C. on Emory diamond at 3 o'clock; Southern Bell vs. Ivy street on Emory diamond at 4:30 o'clock.

At present three clubs are tied for first place and Saturday's games will show the relative strength of the teams.

For the team having the highest average, at the end of the season a pennant is offered.

Cartersville Wins.

Cartersville, Ga., July 21.—(Special.)—Cartersville defeated Calhoun on the local ground this afternoon 9 to 8 in a free hitting contest, making a clear sweep of the series of three games the visitors went into the ninth inning leading 8 to 5, the locals pulling a ninth inning rally, scoring 4 runs for the locals. The features were the hitting of Sandow, Vandygriff, Barnhardt, Wally Smith, Jake Morris, Barnhardt and Morris hitting home runs in third inning. Barnhardt fielded sensationally, while Vandygriff caught his usual heady game.

Features for the visitors were the hitting of Richards and Settles. Calhoun presented a strong team, which included five Buford players.

Poor Tyrus Cobb Is Slipping Badly; Rooks Ambitious to Skid With Him

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER

New York, July 21.—On Ty Cobb's right eye there is a filmy catarrh, his knees are stiff with the stiffness of age, his old fingers are knobby and after a generation of work in the outskirt of the American league parks, it's only reasonable to suppose that the old man can't reach the infield with quick returns from long fly balls as it used to do when he was young. When he was young he was quite a ball player, but when you camp yourself down to hit a few fungoes with him on the Tigers' bench you feel sorry for the poor old guy.

The poor old guy can't hit 'em any more on account of that catarrh of his vision. In a recent game in Boston the old fans felt a clutching sensation in the spot where they used to get laryngitis cheering for him. You could see he was slipping and it was kind of tragic because all he got was five hits in five trips, including a homer and a double, which brought his lifetime batting average up to .372 on his eighteenth season under the big tent. The poor old guy.

Down in Washington a spell back, there was another occasion to jerk loose some sentimental sighs for old Ty Cobb who used to be quite a hitter when he was young. He went to bat 11 times in a double-header and to save his life he couldn't make more than seven hits that day, the poor old guy with the catarrh on his eye.

He seems to know he's slipping, too.

OUT OF GAME FOR A WEEK.

"We got put out of the game by Wilson, the umpire, a while back," Cobb said in Philadelphia last week, "but we were out for a while, too. Before that we had just won 10 out of 13 games. After we got back we won 15 out of 18."

Without the handicap of an old man in centerfield, the club naturally should have won all its games that week. "But the boys dropped seven out of eight, while we bunched," he said. "Not that it made any difference—my being out. I don't make a big show."

SISLER PREDICTS PENNANT FOR BROWNS

Philadelphia, July 21.—George Sisler, leader of the American league in most departments of the game, hears the first faint phantom flutters of the first pennant that has flapped from a St. Louis flagpole in 34 years. Sisler predicts that the Browns will beat out the Yankees, Tigers, Indians and White Sox for this season's banner, which would be the first major league pennant ever won by St. Louis as the old ones were American association flags.

George said the whole club felt the same confidence. Then he explained that the Browns are a game and a half ahead of the Yankees now, almost as far ahead as they were when they came east. Their lead then was two games. Further, he called attention to the fact that the Browns have only one more short road trip this season, play many of their remaining games against the weaker clubs, and the majority of their remaining games at home.

Pearson Makes Infantry Team

Captain Frank J. Pearson, U. S. A., of Fort Benning, Columbus, Ga., and formerly of Atlanta, has been chosen, after nine days of competitive shooting at Fort Niagara, N. Y., to be one of the rifle team that will represent the infantry branch in the annual rifle competition that will be held at Camp Perry, Ohio.

In this annual shoot the best rifleman of each branch of the United States service compete with the others for individual and team honors, and to earn a place on one of the service teams is among the highest shooting honors that a service man can obtain.

Captain Pearson is one of 19 men that will represent the infantry branch and this number was chosen from 70 expert riflemen representing the different U. S. infantry organizations. Captain Pearson was No. 16 in the list and his place was won under the handicap of knowing that he had to shoot a 46 out of a possible 50 to make the team at all. In addition to knowing that he must make a certain score he accomplished this 200 yards standing.

Captain Pearson is a graduate of Marist college, where his first experience with the army rifle was obtained. He entered the service during the late war and was retained in the service at the close of the hostilities.

Battle to Tie.

Greenville, S. C., July 21.—Greenville drove Wilson from the mound in the seventh inning today, overrunning Charlotte's lead and tying the score, and the teams battled for fifteen innings, when the game was called on account of darkness.

Score by innings: R. H. E. Charlotte..... 000 000 000—0 18 2
Greenville..... 000 000 000—0 13 3

LESSON NO. 101.

Radio Dictionary.

OHM—The ohm is the electrical unit of resistance. A wire has a resistance of one ohm when a pressure or electromotive force of one volt causes a current of one ampere to flow through it.

CAPACITY REACTANCE—The opposition offered by capacity to the flow of alternating current. The value of capacity reactance is expressed in ohms.

"FEED BACK" CIRCUIT—A circuit in which regeneration is produced by feeding back oscillating energy from the plate circuit to the grid circuit. Two forms of this circuit in general use are the "tickler circuit" and the "tuned plate" circuit.

TRANSFORMER—A transformer consists of a primary and secondary coil or coils placed in inductive relation to one another and is used in alternating current circuits for raising or lowering the voltage. In some transformers the coils are wound upon a core of laminated soft iron while others have an air core.

"TICKLER" COIL—A coil connected in series with the plate circuit and placed in inductive relation to the secondary coil of the receiving circuit. The tickler is used in feed back circuits for transferring energy from the plate circuit to the grid circuit.

LOUD SPEAKER—An instrument, usually in the shape of a horn, and used for the purpose of increasing the sound waves which are made audible in the receiving circuit. Amplification is essential to the use of a loud speaker.

GRINDERS—A type of static wave which is believed to be propagated vertically and which causes considerable interference with radio signals during the warmer months by producing continual grinding sounds in the receiving telephones.

OHM'S LAW—The relation between current, voltage and resistance in an electric circuit. The law as stated is that the current in an electric circuit is equal to the voltage divided by the resistance.

THE HENRY—The inductance of a circuit in which a change of one ampere per second produces an induced electromotive force of one volt. The henry is used as a unit to express the value of inductance in the component parts of radio circuits. The millihenry or one-thousandth of a henry, is commonly used as the practical unit.

TUNGSTEN—A metal of a grayish-white color, extremely hard and dense, which evaporates only at a high temperature. Tungsten wire is used for the hot electrode or filament in the majority of vacuum tubes, and when heated has the property of emitting electrons, or very minute charges of negative electricity.

LIVELY PROGRAM OF JAZZ TONIGHT

Atlanta Dominos to Fox-Trot a Return Engagement for WGM's Radio Listeners.

Another lively program of jazz music will move the shimmy muscles of American radio listeners into action again at the 9 o'clock period last night, when the well-known and justly popular Atlanta Dominos play a return engagement of dance music for WGM, the radio broadcasting station of The Atlanta Constitution.

The Dominos made a considerable hit with a jazzy recital from Rose-Land Wednesday night and dance enthusiasts of the section requested an encore recital. The program will run a full hour and will include 12 popular dance numbers, the titles of which will be announced by radio tonight, from Rose-Land.

The Dominos are five Atlanta boys who play together for several years in Atlanta and elsewhere. They toured Florida winter resorts playing successfully for dances there last year and have been in demand at summer resorts of Georgia.

The members of the orchestra are G. D. Bass, leader and banjo artist; Louis Rittenbaum, piano; Ed Goodman, saxophone; Azmar Murray, trap; and Victor phonograph music transmitted by courtesy of the Cable Piano company, which will play a full hour of features will occupy a full hour from 6 o'clock to 7 o'clock this evening.

ROME GRAND JURORS INDICT SEVENTY-SEVEN

Rome, Ga., July 21.—(Special.)—Seventy-seven indictments had been returned by the grand jury up to today. There are far fewer indictments for violations of the prohibition law than at any time since its enactment.

Only one murder indictment has been returned. That is against Jim Morris, bearing the curious alias of "Pretty Papa." There are several indictments for assault with intent to murder.

Meadow-larks live chiefly on harmful insects, noxious weeds and waste grain.

Features Are Read.

The afternoon program, broadcast from 12 to 2 o'clock, included six unusually pleasing Edison records, played by courtesy of the Edison shop, the regular news and market report, and the newly introduced reading service, selected features from The Constitution.

W. L. George's "At Woman's Window," a regular woman's section feature, and selections from Robert Quilley's "The Periscope," a regular editorial page feature, were read. W. L. George is reported to know more about women than any other living man. His advice to girls and to women will be read from time to time at the 6 o'clock period.

Other features from which selections will be made for radio reading are Dr. Brady's health talks; Anne Rittenbaum's styles and home features for women; Ruth Cameron's "Side Talks," from the Woman's section; Ruth Leigh's suggestions on "How to Save When Shopping," from the Woman's section; Edna Kent Forbes' "Beauty Chats," Matthew Adams' daily message; O. O. McIntyre's daily "Bits of New York Life," Bug Baer's whimsical humor; Westbrook Pegler's, Walter Camp's and Edgren's sports dope, and a number of others of considerable popularity among all classes of readers of The Constitution, in which all these features appear daily.

Downward Course Followed in Cotton Despite Bad Weather

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.

New York, July 21.—With weather conditions practically unchanged the cotton market today nevertheless continued its downward course. Near months dropped below the 22 cent level, October declining to 21.92 and December to 21.89, a net loss of 44 to 46 points, while January at 21.74 was 40 points net lower.

This disparity was accounted for by heavy selling of the near positions by traders who at the same time were buying the late deliveries. The market closed barely steady and almost at bottom, with prices 39 to 46 points net lower.

Bulls made little attempt to support the market. They realized that labor conditions were unfavorable and that the absence of outside interest would probably be lower in the downward trend of prices.

Around noon, 32 cent level for October a little trade buying developed but this was offset by private reports of an easier basis in the south and that weather in the east was clearing.

The market opened steady 6 to 10 points below foreign weakness in the Liverpool market. Persistent selling of the near positions soon began and was continued throughout the session.

Although high temperatures prevailed over much of Texas they failed to check the pressure as sellers claimed that it was too early for the crop to be damaged by hot weather in Texas and that with good rains within a week the crop in that state might easily show great improvement.

Traders also appeared to be skeptical of the weevil damage news in the eastern belt. Freight room for 1,000 bales of cotton from the local stock was booked for Bremen today and it was understood that more room would be booked for Bremen.

The warehouse stock here has already declined about 35,000 bales so far this month. Exports today, 19,814, making 5,993,937 so far this season. Port receipts, 5,229; United States port stocks, 527,131.

WEEKLY REVIEW OF COTTON MARKET

New York, July 21.—The cotton market has been in the peculiar position this week of ignoring bullish weather and crop news which would ordinarily condition the market but has provoked a sharp upturn. The southwest has had an almost continuous spell of high temperatures with the week's temperature at many points in Texas exceeding 100 degrees and causing cotton to shed to a considerable extent. At the same time, however, the weather in the east has been so favorable that it has been promoted in the eastern belt by rains which in some sections have been very heavy.

That the market should have disregarded the numerous bullish reports which naturally followed weather of this character was a surprise to many traders. October selling under 22 cents. Its answer was to be found partly in the labor situation and in the fact that a good many people in the trade are not convinced that the crop has suffered as much damage as the numerous private reports indicate.

It is contended that unless prolonged unduly the high temperatures in Texas will be more helpful to cotton than otherwise and that the boll weevil damage in the eastern belt has been exaggerated.

An absence of outside speculative buying interest has also operated against an advancing market. The trade has bought less freely than it did a week ago and the foreign political situation is still considered to be an uncertain factor. Dullness in the cotton trade and the fact that a desire to await the forthcoming government report which is expected by many to show an improvement of about 3 points over the month in addition to the regular condition figure, the report on August 1 will give an estimate of the damage that has been done to the cotton crop.

Unable to get the grades desired in their own markets, southern buyers have been coming to New York for their cotton and steamship men estimated that 100,000 bales may be shipped abroad from here before new crop supplies are available.

DECLINE IN EFFECT IN NEW ORLEANS

New Orleans, July 21.—Prices were at the decline throughout the session in cotton today, the market being adversely affected by reports concerning the cotton strike and by fairly favorable crop accounts from many sections of the belt. Weather conditions were considered more favorable than otherwise and increased the effect of crop accounts.

Much liquidation came from the long side and market comment had it that this selling was due to traders who took on their contracts yesterday on hot weather accounts from Texas and who unloaded today because they felt like taking a considerable hedge. Selling came from the eastern belt, along with messages telling of more rains starting up and increasing receipts over a considerable area.

The opening was at small declines which were gradually widened during the day, the market closing at 21.92 for October, 21.89 for November and 21.74 for December. The most active month closed 38 to 41 points down from October at 21.45.

After the first decline of nearly a dollar a bale the tone became steadier on hot weather complaints from Texas where, out of 33 weather stations reporting, 10 noted maximum temperatures for yesterday of from 100 to 108 degrees.

Private wire messages, telling of fresh trouble in the cotton country of the country caused fresh selling and midseason and completely offset what the trade considered to be highly bullish news from the visible supply of American cotton losing 130,000 bales on the week which reduced it to 2,078,011 bales. From then on the tendency was somewhat more pronounced.

NEW ORLEANS SPOTS.—Cotton, New Orleans, July 21.—Spot cotton quiet and unchanged. Sales on the spot, 444; to arrive, none. Low middling, 21.40; middling, 22.25; good middling, 23.25. Receipts, 1,878; stock, 110,053.
